Women who Mean Business – Selling Gippsland's Finest

THE PROJECT

The WwMB project presents an exciting opportunity for Gippsland communities and women of all ages and economic and cultural backgrounds. During the next two years the project will bring together women across Gippsland to participate in skills development training workshops and develop a community project in each of the eight areas.

The eight working groups will chose their own community project and learn how to market their product, their community and their region while meeting new and interesting people. All this - and having fun at the same time!

Supported by the Victorian Government through the Community Support Fund

Administered by Arts Network East Gippsland (ANEG)
ABN: 55 709 825 266

With in-kind support from the Gippsland Women's Network C/ RMB 9055, Willow Grove 3825 email: noyview@vic.australis.com.au

WHAT'S IN IT FOR ME?

- Want to spend two days with a bunch of interesting people who are keen to go for their goals?
- Want to share what you know and learn from others' life experience?
- Reluctant to travel for development programs? We have one for you right here, right now.
- Women who have participated in these programs in the past rave about them
- Feeling ground down, overloaded, blue or just plain tired?
- Join in a 2-day energiser guaranteed to boost both your skills and energy

"This seminar has given me the confidence to change direction in my career path. Jill Gael, the facilitator, was so inspiring"
- participant, Yarram

"I met and networked with like-minded women. The seminar has given me lots of new energy and ideas" - participant, Meeniyan

FACILITATOR: Jill Gael
Jill Gael is a motivating, funny, engrossing presenter who loves working with people. She uses her life stories to punctuate the input sessions, draws on the skills and knowledge of participants and empowers people to set their expectations high then to just "go for it!"

Content

"Women Who Mean Business Skill Development Workshops July - September 2004"

There will be a number of local workshops over 2 days for women who want to develop or extend their skills.

Presented by Jill Gael, these workshops will include:

- Running Productive Meetings
- Developing Leadership Skills
- Project Management
- Conflict Resolution
- Reaching Consensus
- Making Decisions, Setting Priorities, Problem Solving
- Using the plan, Deploy, Review Cycle to Get Things Done
- Developing your Own Career Plan
- Communicating and Working in Committees
- Self-Care

In addition to workshops sessions an extensive resource kit is included. Following the workshop, participants will manage an exciting community project (already funded) which provides a great opportunity to put the learned skills into practice
